Murder Mystery Unsolved, Lichtenstein Is Buried

FUNERAL IS HELD AS POLICE SEARCH FOR CLUES IN VAIN

Thousands View Last Remains of Grocer-Sportsman, Who Was Slain in Ponce de Leon Avenue Apartment Tuesday.

LETTER TO POLICE 'NAMES' MURDERER

Pencil Communication Gives Name of Alleged Slayer, and Bases Act on Intimacy With Wife.

Benjamin L. Lichtenstein, victim in one of the darkest murder mysteries Atlanta has known, was buried Wednesday afternoon.

Seriously handsome in death, the face of "Big Ben," as he was known to his intimate friends, was viewed by thousands who attended his funeral services, held at the Sam Greenberg chapel.

Jew and Christian alike thronged the funeral parlor and flowed out onto the lawns, sidewalks and streets, while a double row of parked automobiles for two blocks in either direction formed a veritable cordon that choked traffic for that distance. It was one of Atlanta's most largely attended funerals.

With the burial of "Big Ben," police were as far from a clue to the identity of the slayer who, almost at the stroke of midnight on the day of August 22, shot and killed Lichtenstein in the prominent grocer's head in Lichtenstein's Ponce de Leon avenue apartment, as they were when they first were called to the scene.

Chief of Detectives A. Lamar Poole Wednesday revealed that earlier in the day he had received a letter bringing a new name into the mystery in purporting to name the slayer of the grocer. This letter, he stated, was sent forth by Lichtenstein's wife, who was intimate with the wife of a man who had shot him for vengeance. The letter gave the name of the alleged slayer, but no initials.

Meanwhile Lieutenant of Detectives T. O. Sturdivant, in charge of the investigation, admitted he intended to question, as a matter of routine, the husband of a young woman with whom Lichtenstein rode in his automobile shortly before the murder. She has been identified as Mrs. J. S. Peterson, of Peachtree road, and both she and her husband were good friends of the slain man. Peterson hurried to Atlanta from Augusta upon hearing of the murder and announced he was ready to assist the detectives in clearing up the mystery. It was Wednesday that Peterson has retained as attorney Reuben Garland.

Story Corroborated.

Mrs. Peterson told police that Lichtenstein escorted her to her Peachtree road apartment about 10 o'clock, leaving her at her door. This story has been accepted by detectives, and has been substantially corroborated by the statement of Motorcycles Police-man Charles Schilling, an acquaintance, who greeted "Big Ben" on the latter's way home. It was to Schilling that Lichtenstein uttered the cryptic statement, "I'm in a bad shape."

Still later—a few minutes before midnight Monday—the grocer was seen alive. Two friends in the Ponce de Leon apartment house, who lived saw him enter the hall on his way to his suite. They are Dr. S. J. Sinkov and Dave Harris, who spoke to the grocer as he passed their door. Lichtenstein greeted them: "Hello fellows," and passed on.

A bare few minutes passed when residents of the apartment house heard terrified cries, followed by a single shot. The exact time of the murder is placed very closely—between 11:58 and 12:10. Rushing to Lichtenstein's door they found it in darkness, partly ajar. Behind it they found "Big Ben," a bullet hole through the head, dead.

Far from Tangible Clue.

Nevertheless, Sturdivant Wednesday virtually admitted that he was far from a tangible clue to the identity of Lichtenstein's murderer. "There is nothing new," was the way the detective stated.

Widow Charged With Murder 'Hidden' by Campbell Sheriff

FIRST PICTURES OF PRINCIPALS IN CAMPBELL COUNTY SLAYING. Mrs. Rommie C. Carran (shown in the larger picture), attractive widow of Charles M. Carran (depicted at the bottom), who faces a murder charge in connection with the brutal slaying of her husband on a lonely road in Campbell county Monday night. Mrs. Carran was found bound and gagged and the dead body of her husband near by. She claimed they were attacked by two negroes. Photos by Associated Press.

FAIRBURN, Ga., Sept. 23.—Campbell county tonight was wondering what had become of Mrs. Rommie Carran, charged in a warrant sworn out by the police today with the murder of her husband, Charles Carran, a Jacksonville auditor. The man's battered body was found in the woods near Stonewall yesterday morning not far from where hunters found Mrs. Carran, her hands bound behind her back and a gag nearby.

The folks along Fairburn's main street seemed just a little bit peeved this morning. The woman out of town in an unknown spot and there were some who were outspoken in their condemnation of the authorities for the long grilling given the slain man's widow yesterday and last night and the sheriff's refusal to permit her to talk to her counsel.

Swift Tyler Jr., Atlanta lawyer, who said he had been requested by Mrs. Carran to represent her, was here today but he was unable to find his client. He said he had been all over the county, at the Fulton tower in Atlanta, had been to Jonesboro, Newnan and other places but that he could find no trace of the woman who had retained him. He, too, was irked with the proceedings of the authorities and issued a statement severely scolding the sheriff and his aides.

Mrs. Carran was taken into custody shortly after her husband's body was found and was grilling all day and far into last night at the sheriff's office. The townfolk said she was getting the "third degree" but in answer to the question of what she was doing in the courthouse revealed that she merely was being asked to detail again and again her story of how two negroes robbed her husband, and that the questioning was orderly, conducted by sheriff and his aides.

At a time of active business, such as the 1928 election, the federal reserve banks are large, the board said, "there is abundance of eligible paper and the amount of gold that is held in the federal reserve agent is relatively small, leaving a considerable volume of free gold."

"At a time like the present, when the borrowing at the reserve banks is at a low level and the portfolio of the reserve banks consists of an amount of gold and securities, the major part of the collateral back of federal reserve notes has to be held in gold, with a consequent reduction in the amount of free gold available is considerably smaller than at a time of active business."

FEDERAL RESERVE HAS TWO BILLION OVER GOLD NEEDS

Nearly Half of World's Supply Now in Vaults, $400,000,000 More Than Two Years Ago.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The strength of the federal reserve system was demonstrated today in a statement by its governing body that member banks hold in their gold reserves about $2,000,000,000 more than required by law.

The reserve board's August review also showed that Great Britain, which temporarily abandoned the gold standard this week, had a net loss of $67,878,000 in gold from January 1 to the end of July, during which time France imported $209,935,000 from Great Britain and exported $382,000 to her neighbor.

The federal reserve banks were shown to have held last week nearly one-half of the world's gold supply with a total of more than $5,000,000,000. That above legal requirements was placed at about one-fifth of the world total.

The reserve ratio in August was $1.4 per cent while under the law the banks are required to have a 40 per cent reserve in gold against notes in circulation and 35 per cent against deposits. The volume in excess of legal requirements is about $400,000,000 more than it was two years ago.

The board reviewed the laws requiring all federal reserve currency be protected dollar-for-dollar in gold or eligible paper and said that while gold reserves had increased, "free gold" or that above legal requirements had decreased by about $350,000,000 in the last two years. The drop in the "free gold" was brought about through action of the banks in withdrawing eligible paper from their reserves and substituting gold for it. During the two years the banks' eligible paper decreased by about $900,000,000 and the "free gold" held during August averaged about $700,000,000.

"At a time of active business, such as the 1928 election, the federal reserve banks are large, the board said, "there is abundance of eligible paper and the amount of gold that is held in the federal reserve agent is relatively small, leaving a considerable volume of free gold."

"At a time like the present, when the borrowing at the reserve banks is at a low level and the portfolio of the reserve banks consists of an amount of gold and securities, the major part of the collateral back of federal reserve notes has to be held in gold, with a consequent reduction in the amount of free gold available is considerably smaller than at a time of active business."

Navy's New Giant Dirigible Begins Reign As 'Queen of Skies' in 3-Hour Test Flight

The navy's new giant dirigible, the U. S. S. Akron, is shown in the above Associated Press telephoto beginning its reign as queen of the skies. The ship is shown as it left its mooring mast Wednesday September 23 and floated majestically into the air. Lieutenant Commander Charles E. Rosendahl was in command of the $5,375,000 dirigible.

AKRON, Ohio, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The U. S. S. Akron was taken upon her first flight today, and came down safely three hours and 47 minutes later, the proven mistress of the air. The flight was the first test for the world's largest dirigible, built here for the United States navy, and the Akron went through it in a manner highly pleasing to navy officials.

The cigar-shaped ship, her silver hull glistening under a bright sun, cruised about this section of northeastern Ohio, floated over downtown Cleveland and returned to the municipal airport here at dusk.

The only unscheduled part of the flight came in landing the giant ship after darkness. Apparently misjudging the altitude the first time, the Akron circled the field twice before she was fastened securely to her portable mooring mast.

It was estimated the ship flew approximately 125 miles. The flight, made under perfect weather conditions which prevailed after several days of waiting, was the first of a series to be made before the ship is turned over to the navy and fitted with her armament. Another of the flights may be made tomorrow, it was announced.

Lieutenant Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, former skipper of the Los Angeles, and a survivor of the wreck of the Shenandoah six years ago, was in command of the Akron.

Aboard were Charles F. Adams, secretary of the navy; Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, in charge of the naval bureau of aeronautics; David S. Ingalls, assistant secretary of the navy for aeronautics, and Paul W. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation, builders of the Akron.

In all the ship carried 113 men, the most ever carried in the air in America, and believed by navy officials to be the largest airship ever built.

COTTON AND GRAIN JOIN STOCKS, BONDS IN WIDE ADVANCE

LONDON EXCHANGE REOPENS CALMLY

Entire Trading World Reflects Optimism Born of Atmosphere Cleared of Uncertainty.

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER.
Associated Press Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Convalescence Wall Street hurled security prices jubilantly upward today, as the doctors hinted that the more important surgical operations upon the economic structure may have been about completed.

Share prices registered one of the widest advances of the year, but the sweeping upturn of the normally more dignified bond market was even more spectacular. The cheerfulness spread to commodities, and cotton, silver and grains were higher.

Shares gained $1 to $15, the widest advance since the war debt moratorium rally of June. In bonds there were numerous upturns of $30 to $100 per bond of $1,000 par value, particularly in the foreign issues and the domestic rails. The average advance was the widest in more than a year. Trading was the most active for a full session since last October.

Final Surge.

The 10 per cent wage reduction announced by United States Steel Corporation and followed by similar announcements by several other large concerns, was widely interpreted in Wall Street as one of the final capitulations to the forces of deflation. It was acknowledged that it will probably have a retarding influence on trade for a time, but Wall Street felt that it removed one of the major elements of uncertainty.

The London crisis had a decidedly disturbing influence for several days, even before it broke, but with trading confidently resumed in London Stock Exchange today Wall Street hoped that the British situation had become definitely a thing of the past as a "doom" of uncertainty.

Financial quarters have been grave-ly concerned over the plight of the railroads, and have regarded it as one of the last vital problems to be dealt with. Speculative quarters were willing to credit rumors today that aid, either in the form of increased freight rates or reduced wages, or possibly both, was definitely being arranged. Rail-way shares led the advance in stocks, and carrier bonds registered many of the more impressive upswings in that market.

SHELTON DENIES DRY ISSUE TO FORE WOMAN'S CHARGES IN LEGION DEBATE

Church Board Hears Edgar Dunlap Supporters Testimony of Prominent Washington Minister.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—The career of Dr. William A. Shelton, formerly a member of the faculty of Emory University, now on trial behind closed doors at Alexandria, Va., on charges brought by his former secretary, appeared to hinge today on the solution of the mystery of a locked door leading to his study in the Mount Vernon Place Methodist church here, where he is pastor.

The alleged incident forming the basis for the charges against the pastor is said to have occurred about three weeks after he came here from Atlanta last October.

At that time he had as his secretary Miss Carrie A. Williams, who also served his predecessor, Dr. W. Lambeth, in the same capacity.

Dr. Shelton and Miss Williams, according to the information, were alone in the church study in the early afternoon of the day of the alleged incident. Some time later, it is said, a friend of Miss Williams' one of the

Butler Predicts Vote For Dry Law Repeal

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, predicted tonight the voters at the next general election will demand repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Speaking before the thirteenth assembly district republican club, the educator declared citizens also will ask for reduction of armament expenditures and lowering of the tariff.

A "surprising sentiment contrary to the prohibition law and favoring the end of the reign of bootlegging," Dr. Butler said, prevails throughout the midwest, the south and the Pacific coast.

Question Suspect

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—A middle-aged man was being held tonight on suspicion of the murder of Benjamin P. Collings. He was questioned for several hours by District Attorney Alexander G. Rine, of Suffolk county, and Inspector Harold R. King, of Nassau county.

Long Island city police who made the arrest, withheld the man's name, but said he partially answered the description of Collings' slayer as given by Mrs. Collings. Blue and King were notified, and the prisoner turned over to them for questioning.

Germans' Courage in Crisis Wins Praise of Mrs. Harris

BY LORENA HICKOK.
NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—A healthy, level-headed, energetic people, courageously trying to make the best of a bad situation and doing an excellent job at it.

This is the impression of the German people brought back by Julia Collier Harris, journalist and author, after a two-month study of political, economic and social questions in the German republic as an appointee of the Carl Schurz Foundation.

Mrs. Harris is the wife of Julian Harris, news director of The Atlanta Constitution, who toured Germany with her also as an appointee of the foundation. Just before leaving for Europe she finished work on a collection of miscellaneous writings of her father-in-law, Joel Chandler Harris.

"The German woman in public life," she said, "a remarkably fine and well balanced person. She has taken with her into a new field much of the thoroughness and orderliness in which German women have been trained as home makers for many generations, and somehow she appears to be more womanly than the feminine leaders in some other cities."

GREENVILLE, Ga., Sept. 23.—(AP) Dr. R. B. Gilbert, president of the Meriwether County Roosevelt-for-President Club, today said he had received a telegram from Governor Roosevelt advising him the New York chief executive would arrive at Warm Springs, Ga., either Saturday night or Sunday.

Dr. Gilbert also announced that a barbecue, planned for September 26 at Warm Springs with Governor Roosevelt as honor guest, had been postponed. A date for the barbecue will be fixed as soon as Dr. Gilbert confers with Governor Roosevelt at Warm Springs to determine what time would be most suitable.

Governor Roosevelt advised Dr. Gilbert that he had planned to arrive in Warm Springs earlier but had been detained in Albany on account of matters pertaining to the New York general assembly.

Patrolman Said He Would Shoot Anyone Molesting Him, Affidavit States.

Patrolman W. T. Morris, held under an indictment charging murder of Lieutenant J. W. Barfield last Saturday, threatened earlier in the day to shoot anyone who molested him in connection with any drinking charges, it was brought out at a special meeting of the police committee of city council Wednesday night when three officers were found guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer and one was discharged for drinking.

The new angle on the murder of Lieutenant Barfield was revealed by Chief of Police James L. Beavers in making his official report to the committee. His written report merely detailed the facts already made known regarding the shooting of the veteran officer and added that "there is good reason to believe that Lieutenant Barfield was bringing Mr. Morris to police headquarters for inspection."

In a verbal statement to the committee, however, the chief said that he also had preferred charges of drunkenness against Morris and that on Wednesday morning he had obtained a warrant for his arrest.

U. S. BACKS LEAGUE IN MOVE FOR PEACE

Stimson Adds Weight To Attempt To End 'War' in Manchuria.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The American government assured the League of Nations today of its wholehearted sympathy with the attitude expressed by that body concerning the Chinese-Japanese situation in Manchuria.

Secretary Stimson said in a note to the league he had already urged cessation of hostilities and withdrawal from the present point of danger, and would "continue earnestly to work for the restoration of peace."

The note added that the United States would dispatch to Japan and China notes of similar lines.

The League of Nations in a resolution yesterday made plain that Japan should stop the advancement of her troops into Manchuria. It called upon the United States to take a similar position.

"I have received from the American minister at Bern the copy of the resolution of the council of the League of Nations which you transmitted to him," said the American note to the league.

"I have noted the two parts of this resolution and the fact that they

FOOD SHIPMENTS HIT NEW PEAK IN FLORIDA

Year Just Past Brings Record in Fruit and Vegetable Handling.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Shipments of Florida fruits and vegetables established a new high record during the 1930-31 season that ended August 31, said a report released today by Frank Scruggs, market news specialist for the state marketing bureau here.

The report showed the season's movements aggregated 150,367 car loads with a gross value of $9,867,335. Shipping charges within the state, of $3,072,214, as compared with $888,737,313 for the 1929-30 season.

Commercial shipments of citrus by all-rail and by boat were 74,645 cars, with an additional 23,555 cars canned, consumed or trucked out of the state. The 98,200 cars had a gross value of $55,569,140 and a "net on tree" value of $8,794,052, the report stated.

Oranges accounted for most of the "net on tree" profit. Grapefruit showing only a small net profit and tangerines showing a net loss. Trucking operations showed a 3 per cent profit above ordinary cost of production, according to the report. Canning operations resulted in a 13 per cent loss.

The so-called commercialized crop, meaning that it was sold in bulk, included vegetables, melons and non-citrus fruits, yielded the equivalent of 49,168 cars, with a gross value of $30,433,719.

An additional 3,000 cars were consumed within or trucked out of Florida, with an estimated value of $1,481,950. All the transportation charges within Florida amounted to $3,566,510, and "could properly be added to gross value to the state," the report said.

WOMAN BOUND OVER IN PYRE SLAYINGS

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Katherine Keller, 25, today was bound over to circuit court for trial on a charge of being an accessory after the fact in the slaying of a man in the quadruple pyre slaying.

Miss Keller was a sweetheart of Fred Smith, convicted slayer sentenced to a life term in the Michigan branch prison at Marquette. She was arrested the night Smith, Frank Oliver and Blackstone, negro, were convicted and sentenced for the slaying of two boys and two girls near Ypsilanti last August 11. Officers said Smith's bloodstained clothing was found in her possession.

Miss Keller is heirless to the late Judge Dravin J. Curtis, of Ypsilanti. She is held in the county jail in default of $10,000 bail.

MURDER, ROBBERY MAZE LINKED IN TEXAS ARREST

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Facts linking a maze of robberies in Texas were sought by investigators today as they followed up information contained in the confession yesterday of Jack Jones, held on a murder charge for the slaying of John Cheris, Dallas gangster.

Jones, Barney McDaniel and J. H. Johnson were questioned for several hours yesterday before the Harris county grand jury concerning the slaying of Chester A. (Keggs) Jones, brother of Jack, and his wife in their Houston apartment several weeks ago, and the killing of Cheris, whose body was found in the Brazos river.

In his statement, yesterday to three Houston officers, Jack Jones said he believed ill feeling between Chester Jones and Cheris started over the division of loot obtained in the robbery of the Union Planters' National bank in Memphis, Tenn., last May.

IOWA TROOPS GUARD AT CATTLE TESTING

TIPTON, Iowa, Sept. 23.—(AP)—National guardsmen tonight were quartered here to protect veterinarians while they test cattle for tuberculosis.

Acting under orders of Governor Dan Turner, about 125 officers and 1,500 enlisted men arrived from all sections of Iowa during the day. As they detrained, large crowds were at the station, varying in mood from attitudes of sullenness to relief and carefree gaiety.

How long the guardsmen will stay was a matter of conjecture, although since 72 hours are requested for making and reading a test, it was expected they would be here three days at least.

Voters of Fulton To Decide On Milton Merger Oct. 14

Fulton county as it may appear before many months are gone. The map shows present Fulton county; Campbell county, which becomes a part of Fulton January 1, 1932; Milton county, which Tuesday voted overwhelmingly to merge with Fulton, and Roswell district, which has asked the grand juries of Cobb and Fulton counties to make possible the merging of Roswell with Fulton. Fulton county will vote October 14 to ratify the Milton merger and the Cobb county grand jury will take up the Roswell consolidation.

Fulton county voters will decide the Fulton-Milton county merger question by their ballots on October 14. Judge Thomas H. Jeffries, Fulton ordinary, announced Wednesday following a 10-to-1 vote in Milton favoring the merger. Voters of the Roswell district, Cobb county, were preparing to ask the grand juries of Cobb and Fulton to fix new boundary lines so as to include Roswell district in the Fulton-Milton consolidation. Constitutional lawyers expressed differing opinions as to whether legislation is necessary before an election on a county merger can be ordered.

In the case of both Campbell and Milton counties, elections in the counties proposing the merger and in Fulton, with which they had voted to merge, were provided for by the general assembly because of the vagueness, or silence, of the constitution on this particular question.

Where the legislature has authorized the merger, and specified that elections shall be held both in the county wanting to merge and in the one it would merge with, constitutional lawyers have ruled that the failure of the constitution to require more than a two-thirds vote of the county wishing to merge does not abrogate the necessity for the referendum in the other county to which it would be added.

Another way of partial merger, which fits the situation in the Roswell district of Cobb county, was disclosed as lawyers studied the legal phases of consolidation and changing lines. Roswell also wants to be joined with Fulton. The procedure is for voters of that district to file a petition with the Cobb grand jury. If it grand jury, by a two-thirds vote, approves the merger it is then up to the ordinary to transmit this action to the grand jury of the county the district desires to become a part of—in this case Fulton—where another two-thirds vote of the grand jury and approval of the board of county commissioners is necessary. Acting jointly, the boards of commissioners of the two counties affected can then change the boundary lines.

Sentiment in Roswell is reported to be unanimous in support of the proposed merger with Fulton. If effected it would add more than another thousand population to this county. The matter, by petition, already has been presented to the grand jury of Cobb and no opposition has been indicated. Roswell is located between Fulton and Milton, and Milton, having voted to merge, caused district leaders to speed up their plans for changing boundary lines and becoming citizens of Fulton.

Text of Provision.

On the question of merging one county with another, the constitution says: "Any county may be dissolved and merged with contiguous counties, by a two-thirds vote of the qualified electors of such county, voting at an election held for that purpose."

Representative Henry A. Beaman, of DeKalb, who was a member of the committee on the constitution of the Institute of Public Affairs held in Athens last spring, is of the opinion that an election in only one county, that proposing the merger, is required unless the legislature otherwise specifies.

"This paragraph of the constitution," Beaman said, "is very ambiguous. It provides no machinery to call an election and I am of the opinion that if any county wanted to merge with a contiguous county, and the legislature provided for the call of an election, the county with which it wished to merge would have no 'say-so' in the matter and if two-thirds of the qualified voters, voting at the election were in favor of the merger, the requirements of the constitution would be complied with."

In the case of Milton, which voted nearly ten to one to merge with Fulton, Beaman holds that an election in Fulton is necessary because the legislature directed a referendum approval in both counties before the merger becomes effective.

Some constitutional lawyers have advanced the opinion that upon petition of a majority of the voters in a county, an election may be ordered by the ordinary and that election, if carried by a two-thirds vote, would complete the merger. Such action, however, would be certain to run the test of the courts, because of the vagueness both of the constitution and the code.

An outline of a statewide merger bill, cutting counties from 161 to approximately 50, was discussed at the recent session of the general assembly. Legislative leaders, beset with many other problems, delayed any consideration of it but the same movement is certain to be agitated in 1933.

America To Continue Construction of Destroyers for Jobless.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The Italian proposal of a "general agreement" for an immediate one-year armament truce received the endorsement of the United States before the League of Nations assembly disarmament committee today, but met the opposition of Japan.

Hugh R. Wilson, American ambassador to Switzerland and representative of the United States in the disarmament committee, announced the United States was ready to accept the plan for the armaments holiday except for suspending its program of destroyer construction, which is needed, he said, as a measure of unemployment relief.

Naoike Sato, Japanese spokesman, declared it was impracticable to attempt an immediate truce and urged that the matter be postponed for consideration at the beginning of the general disarmament conference in February.

Mr. Wilson voiced dissatisfaction with the Japanese position and declared the greenlighting of the truce would be entirely lost if it did not begin now.

CAROLINIANS FAVOR
TEXAS COTTON PLAN

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 23.—(AP)—A movement for the South Carolina general assembly, for days on the verge of sine die adjournment of the special session to enact a cotton acreage curtailment program similar to that of Texas, gathered force today. The house unexpectedly revived the measure and gave it passage on second reading by an overwhelming oral vote.

Senate supporters of the measure hoped to pass a similar bill there tonight.

Under amendments adopted by the house the curtailment bill would reduce the cotton crop in 1932 and 1933 by 70 per cent of acreage planted in 1931. It would be effective only if the total prohibition law fails to become operative.

This was made law this morning when Governor Blackwood signed the bill prohibiting cotton planting in 1932. House supporters of the curtailment bill asserted the Long cotton holiday program was "dead" and that the legislature will have done nothing for the cotton farmer unless it enacted the reduction program.

TO DEATH IN ARMY POOL

FORT McLELLAN, Ala., Sept. 23.—(AP)—A military board met here today to investigate the death of Robert Edward Pruitt, 16-year-old Anniston High school boy, who drowned late yesterday in the post swimming pool when suction from a drain pipe drew his head and shoulders into the pipe.

The youth was said to have dived near the 10-inch drain pipe while the pool was being emptied, and his body drawn into the mouth of the drain by the force of the outflowing water. He died before rescuers could reach him and while his mother, Mrs. E. J. Pruitt, of Anniston, and a brother frantically watched their efforts from the bank.

NATIONAL BELLAS HESS REMODELING BUILDING

Improvements To Be Made in Store Before Holiday Shopping Season.

The National Bellas Hess Company is remodeling its Atlanta store to embody the newest features of store designing and construction. It is announced by A. H. Hilker, general manager.

Morgan, Dillon & Lewis, architectural firm, has been retained to collaborate with Ross-Frankel.

A. H. HILKER.

Inc. of New York, who make a specialty of designing and constructing modern stores throughout the country.

The improvements to the building consist of the installation of new show windows and a new facade on Whitehall street, in the designing of which a great many radical departures from the conventional store front have been made. The front is of the new modernistic architecture and the materials to be used are black corrugated and stainless steel. One of the interesting features is the entrance to the store, which rises for a height of more than two stories from the sidewalk. A special feature of display is embodied on the second floor level, the frieze decorative carved glass running around the entire transom line. A spacious arcade will be provided to permit shoppers to get out of the sidewalk crowds and look at the attractive window displays leisurely and comfortably. The illumination of the show windows, together with the unusual backgrounds, has been especially designed to eliminate reflections and shadows, so that the merchandise displays will stand out attractively. The store will be divided into units for attractive grouping of new merchandise.

The National Bellas Hess Company regards its Atlanta store as one of its most important units and is, therefore, giving the front of this store an institutional cast comparable with the largest and most beautiful in the country. The interior of the store is also being completely remodeled. A greatly enlarged wear department will be located on the entire second floor. Walls and ceilings of this floor are being newly decorated, new modernistic lighting fixtures are being provided, the flooring is being carpeted, and a fitting room of unusual layout and design, together with a rest room for patrons, is being provided at a point on this floor where it will receive the full benefit of an abundance of daylight and air. This salon also will be provided with comfortable furniture. The first floor is being rearranged so that spacious aisles will provide easy access through the store from Broad to Whitehall streets. New flooring, new lighting fixtures and newly decorated walls and ceilings will provide an inviting background for main floor shoppers.

On the balcony will be the shoe department. The floor will be carpeted in modernistic fashion and aluminum chairs of the most comfortable type will be installed.

Since this is to be the first modernistic unit in the National Bellas Hess chain, a great deal of special study and research has been made in order to make this an outstanding example of the modernistic architectural style. The design has been submitted for comment to the heads of several of the largest architectural firms in Atlanta and has been pronounced a notable contribution to retail store architecture. John W. Grant, owner of the property, to whom the plans were also submitted, expressed his satisfaction of the style of this shopping district of Atlanta, and feels that this improvement will be a forerunner to complete modernization in this retail district.

Evan M. Frankel, who has charge of the construction, states that business during the course of construction will not be interrupted and customers of the store are assured that no inconvenience will be experienced because of the remodeling of the store. Alteration is being rushed to completion so the store's clientele will be able to do their fall shopping in new and beautiful surroundings.

Albert S. Scott, president of the National Bellas Hess Company, says the large expenditure being made for this alteration is justified by his faith in Atlanta.

Mr. Hilker recently took charge of the local store, coming here from the Richmond, Va., store. Prior to his service there he was a resident of Winston-Salem, N. C., where he was prominently connected, having taken an active part in business and social circles. For a number of years he was president of the Winston-Salem Advertising Club.

PRISONER SUICIDES TO MISS STOCKADE

To avoid "making news" in the city stocks, John Watts, 54, of 455 Jones avenue, S. W., committed suicide by hanging himself in his police station cell Wednesday morning. Other prisoners awoke Wednesday to find the body suspended from the bars by a belt. Watts was arrested Tuesday night, charged with "drunk and disorderly and wife-beating." His trial was set for Wednesday afternoon.

Watts had been in the stocks several times before, and had been sent to the job of "sweep making" by prison authorities. The job was hot, standing over the boiling water, and Watts disliked it very much, according to Police Lieutenant Roberts. He said Watts had told other prisoners "this is my last term here; I'd rather die than tend a syrup kettle." The body was taken to Harry G. Poole's to await funeral arrangements.

PARK CONDEMNATION HEARINGS RESUMED

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Deliberations by a commission appointed by superior court to determine the value of about 87,000 acres of Swain and Haywood county timber lands condemned for acquisition to the Great Smoky Mountains National park, were resumed here today. Estimates of the value of the land range between $350,000 and $3,000,000.

BANCKENTUCKY RECEIVER SOUGHT

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 23.—(AP)—A bill asking for the appointment of a receiver for the Bank of Kentucky Corporation, of Louisville, Ky., was filed in chancery court today by a group of stockholders of the company.

The bill alleges the corporation is insolvent and has been for some weeks and that it is unable to meet obligations as they fall due.

About two months ago the chancery court dismissed a receivership bill against the company on the ground that it was not shown that the company was insolvent at the time the bill was filed.

The complainants in the new bill are Frank H. Latham, Leonard Steerman, Kelly C. Smith, Luther S. Scholl and F. Rogers, all of Louisville and vicinity.

The new bill sets forth that Bank of Kentucky owns stock of a par value of $3,760,000 in the National Bank of Kentucky and stock of par value of $1,645,000 in the Louisville Trust Co. It stated that the comptroller of the currency has assessed Bank of Kentucky $3,760,000 by reason of the failure of the National Bank of Kentucky and that the receiver for the trust company, which also failed, had assessed Bank of Kentucky $1,645,000.

When it's the choice of such a famed authority as Miss Sawyer--It MUST be GOOD COFFEE

The can is hermetically sealed to keep the freshness. A key seal opens this vacuum can.

Miss Sawyer, whose international fame as an authority on food products qualifies her ability to choose wisely when making a selection of them for her demonstrations and menus, has expressed herself to the women of this section attending The Constitution-Kelvinator School regarding Canova. Attend the school and hear Miss Sawyer tell what a really wonderful coffee Canova is. Its rare aroma revives truant appetites.

Penny-a-Meal Plan for Relief May Be Adopted by New York

Possibility that New York city may adopt the penny-a-meal plan, which was originated by Mrs. Thomas K. Glenn and is in operation here, was indicated in a message to The Constitution from Jesse I. Straus, chairman of the board of directors of the R. H. Macy Company and a member of the executive committee of emergency unemployment relief in New York.

Mr. Straus' message said: "I was impressed by the cleverness of the penny-a-meal club plan as inaugurated by Mrs. Glenn and, happening to hear of it as I was about to go to a meeting of the executive committee of emergency unemployment relief here, I suggested its adoption by New York. It was referred to the committee on suggestions, who now have it under advisement to determine whether it is applicable in New York."

The fame of the idea, which calls for a donation of 1 cent per meal, has spread rapidly. Letters and telegrams pour into the club headquarters in the Trust Company of Georgia building daily from many different states and cities. It is expected by Mrs. Glenn and Mrs. James L. Dick, who is associated in the plan, that contributions will run as high as $1,500 a day. Other cities are awaiting the outcome before starting the plan, according to Mrs. Glenn. Pennies may be dropped into the boxes which have been placed over the city, or checks may be mailed to the club headquarters.

THE PENNY CLUB

I,, enter into a pledge with the other members of "The Penny Club" that I shall eat no meals for the next five (5) months without contributing One Penny each meal for the aid of the unemployed.

JURY WILL RECEIVE STATON CASE TODAY

The case against Private James F. Staton, who is charged with the murder of Private Thomas J. Martin near Fort McPherson on May 20, is expected to go to a jury in Fulton superior court this afternoon for the third time. Two previous juries were discharged in mistrials. Evidence was closed Wednesday afternoon, and the arguments will begin this morning. R. W. Gossett, night watchman at the Fort McPherson railroad crossing, testified that he saw Martin's slayer fleeing and that the slayer was not Staton. Miss Georgia Phillips, who was with Martin on the night of the killing, identified Staton as the slayer.

Flawless Landing Made By Autogiro on Ship Deck

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 23.—(P)—An autogiro attached to the experimental division of the Hampton Roads naval air base landed on the deck of the aircraft carrier Langley, off Cape Henry, this afternoon to successfully conclude the first experiment of landing such a plane on a ship at sea.

The autogiro, piloted by Lieutenant Melville Price, settled gently to the deck of the ship and rolled only a few feet. Lieutenant Price circled the plane about the ship for a few minutes before coasting above the vessel and then drifting to what was described as a perfect landing.

exclusive use in her demon-

The Constitution-Kelvinator Cooking and Refrigeration School

being conducted this week in our 6th Floor Restaurant

MISS SAWYER

The popularity of the Kelvinator is not just hearsay and advertising propaganda. Kelvinator is actually the oldest and largest exclusive manufacturer of electrical refrigeration, and it continues to win the staunch favor of all those whom it serves. In addition, this expression of satisfaction by the general public—authorities on home economics continue to choose it for their own use. Such has been the approval of Miss Marian Sawyer, who selected Kelvinator for use at the sessions of her school now being conducted for Atlanta women. Kelvinators are available in styles and sizes to meet every need.

A simple business-like method of deferred payments can be arranged on all Kelvinator models.

Attend the last 2 sessions--beginning at 8:45 A. M. Today and Tomorrow.

PLANNING COMMISSION MODIFIES NEW RULES

Newspaper Gag Regulation Revoked; Elimination of Duplicate Names Planned.

Revoking a gag rule on newspapers and modifying a resolution restricting co-operation of the city planning commission with other departments of the government, that body Wednesday took steps to eliminate duplications of street names in Atlanta and surrounding territory.

Robert R. Otis, chairman of the commission, will name a special committee to eliminate duplicate names to seek co-operation of various neighboring cities and counties for the purpose of making mail deliveries simpler and removing confusion resulting from such duplications.

Several small petitions for rezoning were considered.

Walter S. McNeal Jr., commissioner, championed the removal of the rule requiring the commission to pass all papers before they were given publicity, and also the modification which would have curtailed usefulness of the commission, he said.

Councilman Claude L. Barnwell, chairman of the tax committee of council under which tax assessors work, said the rule would work a hardship on that and many other departments.

Mr. Otis was not at the meeting, but will select the special duplicate name committee within the next few days. Postmaster Edwin K. Large appeared, asking the commission's co-operation in not changing the names of streets except where it would assist the department in elimination of confusion in making deliveries.

GUNNELL BELIEVED VICTIM OF ACCIDENT

Probability that Edward L. Gunnell, of East Point, fell asleep on a fire escape and plunged to his death behind a Washington, D. C. hotel, was expressed in a coroner's jury verdict in that city Wednesday.

Gunnell's body was found beneath the fire escape of his hotel several days ago, and the inquest Wednesday returned a verdict of "accidental death." Mrs. William N. Mitchell, of East Point, a relative of the deceased, appeared at the inquest and testified that Gunnell was an unusually sound sleeper and expressed the opinion that he was asleep on the fire escape when he fell. She testified that Gunnell was without work and had gone to Washington to seek employment.

His body probably will be brought back to East Point Friday for services and interment.

PASTOR DROPS DEAD IN OFFICE AT CHURCH

Rev. G. M. Eakes, Formerly of Decatur, Succumbs at Augusta.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Sept. 23.—(AP)—The Rev. George MacFarrin Eakes, 55, pastor of the St. John Methodist church, was found dead in his office here today. He had complained of feeling ill last night but went to his office as usual today. The body was found by his secretary, Miss Fannie Mae Olive.

Mr. Eakes had been pastor of the St. John church since 1926. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lulu Guinn Eakes; a brother, Judge M. M. Eakes, of Tulsa, Okla.; a sister, Mrs. Fannie H. Rogers, of East Point, Ga.; and a cousin, the Rev. Hillman Eakes, of Washington, Ga.

Mr. Eakes was the son of the late Rev. R. A. Eakes. The Rev. R. E. Eakes, of Decatur, and the Rev. J. H. Eakes, of Griffin, both of whom are dead, were brothers.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 5:30 p. m. from the St. John Methodist church. The body will be taken to Decatur for burial at 11 o'clock Friday morning.

Rev. George McFerrin Eakes was the son of Rev. R. A. Eakes, well-known citizen of Cumming, Ga. His mother was a Miss Sims, also of Cumming. His brothers were Rev. J. H. Eakes, deceased; Rev. Frank Eakes, deceased; W. H. Eakes, deceased, and Judge Mather M. Eakes, of Tulsa, Okla. His sister is Mrs. Fannie Eakes Rogers, Atlanta. His wife, who survives him, was Miss Lulu Guinn, sister of Major R. J. Guinn, Atlanta. Before marriage Mrs. Eakes was one of the most popular members of the faculty of what is now Georgia State College for Women at Milledgeville.

In 1897, after graduating with a B. S. degree from Emory College, Dr. G. M. Eakes entered the membership of the North Georgia annual conference. At the time his two brothers, Drs. G. H. and Frank Eakes, and his cousin, Rev. Timon Eakes, were already members in active work. Before this Revs. R. A. and Marion Eakes had served in the conference. Thus the Eakes family came to be one of the "preacher families," along with the Englands, Parks, Quillions and others. All served with fidelity and some with distinction.

Quietly, but with great diligence and practical grasp, the youthful G. M. Eakes labored in the circuit fields assigned him during his earlier conference years. Then came pastorates in Commerce, Monroe, Wesley Memorial (Atlanta), Gainesville, Decatur, and, finally, St. John, Augusta. Never aspiring to the presiding eldership, to congregational tasks, or such like, he pursued the even tenor of his way as a trusted, efficient and beloved pastor. Every part of the church's program was given due attention. It became a conference maxim that Mack Eakes would bring up in full every interest of the church—orphans' home, missions, special funds and local obligations. He was one pastor who could be relied upon by all interests alike. As a conference official on committees, boards and commissions, he demonstrated the same honest impartiality and thoroughness.

HAWKINSVILLE, Ga., Sept. 23.—(AP)—A Pulaski county superior court jury tonight returned a verdict of guilty without recommendation to mercy in the case of James F. Barbee, 45, mill operator, charged with shooting to death Delmar Cannon, 22, his son-in-law, on last March 3. The verdict automatically carries the death penalty which will be imposed tomorrow by Judge Escholt Graham, trial jurist. The jury received the case Tuesday afternoon.

Maud Barbee Cannon, daughter of the defendant and wife of Cannon, was among the main witnesses for the state. She testified her father deliberately murdered her husband. He contended that he shot and killed Cannon in self-defense.

Doric good name until he towered among his fellows as one of Southern Methodism's first pastors. Nothing shored, slurred or of tinsel glitter enters into his record; it is as sound, honest and durable as heart of oak.

"Sorrow rests upon widely scattered hearts at the news of his seemingly untimely going. But his is the blessing of one who did with his might what his hand found to do. Friends were gripped to him as with steel. And one tender beauty of his strong manhood was the ease with which he drew to him the love of little children."

Quits Mayoralty To Be Higher Paid Street Overseer

WEST POINT, Ga., Sept. 23.—Tired of being mayor, Charlie R. Rutledge, chief executive of West Point's sister city on the Alabama side is now Lanett's street overseer.

Mr. Rutledge was serving his second term, had won two hard-fought battles at the polls and his friends said he could hold the place in perpetuity if he wanted it. In his first race he defeated the popular Judge Will Knight—a feat thought impossible.

Mr. Rutledge was a successful official. His administration of the city's affairs strengthened the support of his friends and won many new adherents for him. There was still a year of his second term to serve when he tendered his resignation to city council Monday night and insisted that it be accepted. He explained to his friends on the council he was weary of the cares and responsibilities of the high office he held and would prefer the position of street overseer, in which there was a vacancy.

The resignation was reluctantly accepted and Mr. Rutledge was elected overseer.

Henry G. Crowder, councilman, who was recently made mayor pro tem to fill the place of Roy P. Herring, who resigned on account of ill health, automatically becomes mayor of the thriving industrial city.

The position of mayor pays $50 a month; the street overseer draws $22.50 per week.

FROZEN FOOD MEETING AT EXPERIMENT TODAY

GRiffin, Ga., Sept. 23.—The Frozen Foods Association of America will meet Thursday at the Georgia experiment station, at Experiment, near here, at a special meeting to consider the results of tests made at the station in the preservation of foods and fruit by the freezing process.

More than 200 scientists, engineers and businessmen are expected to attend.

Free bus transportation will be provided for those who desire, from Atlanta. A bus will leave at 8 o'clock, Atlanta time, and another, for those who cannot catch the earlier bus, at 9. All desiring to travel by these busses are requested to meet on the fifth floor of the Walton building, Atlanta, at the national offices of the Frozen Foods Association.

Three members of the staff of the experiment station will describe the research work done there. These will be J. G. Woodruff, in charge of the freezing experiments; K. T. Holley, chief chemist, and Dr. Leah Aschman, home economist.

H. B. Stucker, director of the experiment station, is president of the Frozen Foods Association and has been largely responsible for the excellent results obtained.

During the past two years exhaustive research and experimentation has been going on at the experiment station, developing methods of freezing peaches, figs, berries, vegetables and other food products, so that they might be preserved in their natural state for distribution in the market out of season. Peach freezing plants now operating in Georgia are the result of experiments conducted under Mr. Stucker's direction.

The program for Thursday's meeting includes the discussion of various phases of quick freezing development. One of the speakers, F. R. Fisher, of California, will describe the freezing of fruit juices on the Pacific coast; shrimp freezing, a growing industry, will be described by E. H. Diemer, of Brunswick; John H. Davenport, of the Davison-Paxon Co., Atlanta, will present a paper on the "Marketing of Frozen Foods."

Chatham Killer Declared Sane After Long Incarceration in State Hospital

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 23.—(AP) Benjamin W. Davis, adjudged in 1923 by a commission as insane, today was declared by state sanatorium officials to be sane. The new decision means Davis faces resentencing to hang for the death in May, 1921, of Thomas E. White.

Dr. Roger C. Swint, superintendent of the state sanatorium at Milledgeville, has advised Lucius K. Meldrum, sheriff of Chatham county, that Davis is mentally all right and should be returned to Chatham county. This will be done soon.

Another interesting feature about the case is that although the method of execution has been changed in Georgia to electrocution at Milledgeville, Davis faces execution by hanging in Chatham county as his case originated before the law was changed. The only means of escape from execution of the sentence is for Davis to appeal to the state prison commission and Governor Russell for a commutation of sentence or pardon. Steps have already been taken by him to ask for a pardon.

Davis was tried and convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged. In the meantime, however, friends interested themselves in the case and Governor Hardwick sent a commission to Savannah to examine Davis. He was found to be insane and was committed to the asylum January 20, 1923.

White was fatally shot at about 11 o'clock on the night of May 13, 1921. He died later in a hospital. The shooting occurred on the front porch of White's home at 740 East Henry street and resulted from a quarrel over some real estate which Davis, as agent, was to sell for White. After shooting White with a pistol, Davis jumped on the running board of a passing automobile, put his pistol to the driver's head and directed him to speed away. The car sped onto Ogeechee road and was overtaken at Thirty-seventh street by a police officer. Davis was 32 years old at the time of the slaying.

GEORGIAN IS KILLED IN PLUNGE OF PLANE

DICKERSON, Md., Sept. 23.—(AP) Plunging from an altitude of less than 200 feet in a single-passenger pursuit plane, after motor trouble had developed, Lieutenant William B. Clements, of the army air corps reserve, was instantly killed near here today.

Three persons who observed the careening plane in the sky pulled the dead pilot from the tangled wreckage before flames enveloped the plane and completed its destruction.

The pilot, who had taken off a short time before from Bolling field, near Washington, lived at Durand, Ga., and was identified by papers in his pockets. He was not in uniform and the body was taken in charge by the authorities and carried to an undertaking establishment.

The plane of Lieutenant Clements appeared over Dickerson approximately 50 miles from Washington, about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The motor was missing and the pilot was apparently seeking a field to land on. Suddenly it went into a spin and hurtled to the earth, barely missing a warehouse. Those near by rushed to the rescue and dragged the pilot from his seat. Officials declared Lieutenant Clements was on his way to Middletown, Pa., to have some work done on the plane before proceeding to his base at Selfridge field, Mount Clemens, Mich. He had been taking part in maneuvers at Bolling field and Fort Humphries, Va.

REV. REMBERT SMITH ASKS SECOND HEARING

SPARTA, Ga., Sept. 23.—Rev. Rembert G. Smith has requested reopening of an investigation into charges brought by him that Bishop H. M. DuBose, of the Methodist church, South, raised and spent money in the presidential campaign of 1928 and made no report of such expenditures as required under the federal corrupt practices act.

Rev. Smith asks reopening of the inquiry on the ground that he was not notified that the investigation was to be made and that he has pertinent evidence to lay before the committee.

The committee, consisting of Drs. Edmondson, Russell and Rogers, met in Atlanta last week. They were summoned to meet by Bishop DuBose and, after hearing from the bishop found that the Rev. Smith's charges were "absolutely false and groundless."

Rev. Smith now asks that there be a rehearing of his charges, with himself present, and has asked Bishop DuBose to join him in the request for a second hearing.

The money is to come out of the city funds for charity and public welfare.

An eminent scientist writes the head chemist in our Research Department:

"Chesterfield Cigarettes are just as pure as the water you drink"

THE WATER YOU DRINK is tested from time to time by expert chemists to make sure that it is free from all injurious substances—that it is pure.

So it is in the manufacture of CHESTERFIELD cigarettes. Expert chemists test all the materials that are used in any way in CHESTERFIELD's manufacture, to make sure that everything that goes into CHESTERFIELD is just right.

THE LEAF TOBACCO IS PURE. Long steel ovens—drying machines of the most modern type—scientifically "dry" and clean and purify the natural tobacco leaves by exact high-temperature treatment.

Then the shreds of cut tobacco, as you see them in your CHESTERFIELD, are again heated, cleaned and purified. From these pure tobaccos the cigarettes are made, and only the purest paper—the best that can be made—is used for CHESTERFIELD.

Cigarettes used to be made in an old-fashioned way, by hand. Now, no hand but yours touches CHESTERFIELD—another purity safeguard.

CHESTERFIELDS are made and packed in clean, sanitary factories where even the air is changed every four and one-half minutes—purity again.

ALL THIS CARE is taken to give you CHESTERFIELDS as nearly perfect as cigarettes can be made. Delivered in a moisture-proof, sealed package, they reach you just as good, just as pure as when they leave the factory. Good... they've got to be good—they're just as pure as the water you drink!

Value of Dairy Is Stressed At Livestock Convention

Daily Cash Crop for Farmers With Dairy
Herd, Says Speaker.

MOULTRIE, Ga., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Speakers at the eighteenth annual convention of the Southern Live Stock Association here today dealt with subjects covering dairying, need for increasing hog production and the part railroads play in the live stock business of the south.

L. A. Higgins, a leader in extension dairying at Mississippi A. & M. College, told the assemblage that the practical reason for the average southern cotton farmer, tobacco farmer and farmer who produce other crops for a cash income to keep dairy cows was that such cows "should serve to convert cheap pasture grasses and other farm produced rough feeds into a readily salable and essential article of human food."

"This essential article of food," Mr. Higgins continued, "commands a cash price on the markets every day and supplies a constant cash income to be used in paying daily expenses of home and farm."

As southern dairy farmers, let's adjust the number of cows kept to our ability to provide good grazing and an abundance of legume hay and keep feed and production records that we may weed out the low producers," S. W. Greer, head of the McNeill (Miss.) Experiment station, told the convention of the increased production of pasture grass by winter burning.

Results of six years, Mr. Greer said, showed an average gain of mature steers grazed on burned over native grass pastures used in a ten-year project at McNeill, to be 44.4 per cent greater than the increase in weight of those grazed on unburned pastures. Mr. Greer said that gains in favor of burned pastures each season were by 32 to 62 pounds per head. None of the gains, however, he went on to explain, were as good on either type of pasture as they should have been since both types were fully stocked with pigs and the grazing was in addition to the annual timber growth on the land.

Honesty of the railroads' policy in its agricultural work, according to J. F. Jackson, general agricultural agent for the Central of Georgia railroad, has warranted confidence in the railroads' efforts to aid the farmers. "The work is based on the conviction," Mr. Jackson said, "that what may be done to increase the prosperity of the farmers will eventually help the railroads, for increased general prosperity means increased general transportation requirements."

"If the policy back of railway agricultural work was simply the immediate increase of tonnage for the railroads to handle, with little or no regard to the benefits for the producers of the increased tonnage, then the railway work would not last long."

The south can increase its pork production four-fold without the need of increasing prices, H. McDowell, manager of Swift & Co. plants in the southeast, told the convention. "Georgia, Florida and Alabama are importing about 75 per cent of the pork they consume," Mr. McDowell said.

"In the three states mentioned," he continued, "the heaviest production of hogs to be marketed through commercial channels at any time during the past 15 years has been 500,000 hogs. This number of hogs is only one per cent of the total number produced annually in the United States."

"Therefore, if farmers would produce four times as many hogs as they are now producing, the total production for the three states would be too small a portion of the American total to affect the market value of hogs in the section."

Pork raisers, he said, should increase the market for peanut-fed hogs as the meat is superior in flavor and tenderness to western hogs fattened on corn.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Indictments charging murder were returned today by the grand jury of Chatham county against Walter Mims Bragg, R. F. Weston and Sarah Washington. The grand jury also indicted 26 others on a variety of charges and returned no true bills in the cases of eight others.

Negro Seriously Cut in "Big Meeting" Row

SPARTA, Ga., Sept. 23.—Lonnie Lawrence, negro farmer, was brought here yesterday afternoon after he had been seriously cut by another negro, John Jones, at Green Springs church, where they were attending a "big meeting."

The negro assailant slashed him across the back several times, severing the muscles, and also cut him across his arms. The knife made long, deep gashes in the body of Lawrence, requiring many stitches to close them up. Although painfully injured he will recover unless some complications arise.

The negro who did the cutting made his escape during the excitement and has not been located by officers.

Stevens, of Atlanta, at the book review sponsored by the City Club in Miami, Fla., and held at the Columbus hotel. He was a contemporary of Henry Grady on The Constitution and his editorial work placed him in the forefront of American newspaper writers.

Social News of Varied Interest

Mrs. L. O. Freeman, of College Park, president of fifth district of Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, gave an inspiring talk Tuesday, on "Club Work and Co-operation," at the luncheon of Buckeye Women's Club, given at Rich's tea room. Mesdames Fred White, E. S. Harrold and V. C. Smith gave accounts of summer travel and Mrs. C. A. Rauschenberg Jr., Mrs. George Greenway, Miss Margaret Hoyt, Mrs. A. E. Chandler and Miss Jeannette McKibben were visitors. The club adopted resolutions, written by Mrs. W. H. Preston, on the recent death of Mrs. D. O. Smith, a pioneer member of the Ohio society and Buckeye Club, members standing in memory of her devotion to the club and its work.

The year-books, presented to the club by Charles Higgins, were distributed by Mrs. George Bird, program chairman, the subjects being on national and international problems of today. Mrs. E. M. Heibig, president of Needlework Guild, stressed the need of garments this year, and an all-day sewing will be held Thursday, October 1, at the home of Mrs. S. G. Hunter, 892 Ponce de Leon place, N. E. Mrs. W. R. Urie, chairman of entertainment, will be hostess for the meeting Tuesday, October 27, at her home on Piedmont avenue, assisted by Mrs. H. K. Moore and Mrs. E. J. McKibben.

Miss Helen Bishop, bride-elect, is being feted at a series of pre-nuptial entertainments. Miss Frances Hoxey entertained Tuesday evening at a miscellaneous shower at her home, honoring Miss Bishop. Miss Sylvia Cardridge entertained at a bridge-tee Saturday, September 19, at the log cabin, in College Park, and Mrs. C. E. McCormick, Mrs. W. A. Some of the educational facilities of Atlanta were topics for discussion by members of Business and Professional Women's Club, at the meeting Tuesday, held in the clubrooms. The original idea of a commercial high school is attributed to Mrs. Hamilton Douglas Sr., said Miss Sue Stutiles, who had for her subject, "The Commercial High School." In 1899 Mrs. Douglas was connected with Girls High, and a small department for commercial courses was instituted in connection with her work. In 1903 bookkeeping and a department for boys were added, and in 1915 Commercial High was organized, and it is the largest of the four senior high schools in the city. Millinery, sewing and cooking have been added for the girls, and it is said to be the first high school in the United States to teach commercial subjects and the first in the southern states to have a school bank.

Miss Jennie Williams visited the Opportunity school while the classes were in session and stated that it is maintained by Georgia state board for vocational education and the city schools, and is one of several in Georgia, others being located in Albany, Athens, Brunswick, Columbus, LaGrange, Newnan, Rome, Rossville, Savannah and Tallapoosa. It is maintained for employed people desiring to continue their education, or obtain special training, though it has some unemployed people 14 years of age and over. More students are enrolled in the so-called secretarial courses than any other, and the Americanization class, taught by Miss Mary Baker, has 75 people enrolled for the purpose of learning to speak English. The school has an enrollment of nearly 700, is open from 7:30 in the morning until 6 o'clock at night and has evening courses and "Learn More and Earn More" is its motto.

Growth of Emory from the days at Oxford was traced by Miss Rebecca Shuman, who said: "Emory was moved to Atlanta in 1915, the city giving $500,000 and the late Asa Chandler $1,000,000, and it is located on a campus of 160 acres with 16 buildings and has an enrollment of 2,051 and a faculty of 269 members. It has four libraries, medical, legal, theological and general, the last having $5,000 bound volumes and 45,000 unbound volumes.

"Some $65,000 was appropriated by the state legislature in 1883 to found a technological school in Georgia," said Miss Maude Sewell. "Athens, Atlanta, Macon, Milledgeville, and Peachtree City were considered, but Atlanta was destined to be the home of the Georgia School of Technology. The campus has grown from five acres to 160 acres, and the enrollment in 1930 was 3,712, and 550 of these students are co-operative, going to school 12 weeks and working for an equal length of time. Some 100 firms, representing many forms of industry, participate in this co-operative work, which enables many students to attend Tech who would otherwise be unable to do so."

Miss Evelyn Lewis spoke on the value of public speaking and told how it developed, clear thinking and personality. These discussions are under direction of Miss Maude Sewell, chairman of education committee, and will be held on the second and fourth Tuesday evenings in each month. The study of other schools will be taken up at the meeting Tuesday, October 13.

Mrs. Clifton A. Wood entertained at a bridge-tee yesterday at her home on Mesdames, D. O. Kimberly, L. R. Denny, Dan Kent, Leon Williams, John Miller, Louise Jones, Theo Goulas, J. J. and Miss Sue Stutiles, who had for her subject, "The Commercial High School." In 1899 Mrs. Douglas was connected with Girls High, and a small department for commercial courses was instituted in connection with her work. In 1903 bookkeeping and a department for boys were added, and in 1915 Commercial High was organized, and it is the largest of the four senior high schools in the city.

Mrs. Wister Sharpe was hostess at a bridge-tee yesterday at her home on Seventeenth street, honoring Mrs. J. E. Calkins, of Miami, the guest of Mrs. E. A. Stephens.

Miss Florie Adkins was hostess to the members of the O. B. X. club at a tea yesterday afternoon at her home on the Prado. Mrs. E. E. Pomroy assisted her niece in entertaining. FRIENDLY COUNSEL
BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

I am a sixteen-year-old high school graduate, working for my living. Ever since I can remember I have attracted the opposite sex. I made the mistake of starting out with an older gang when I was very young and now I can't break away from them. I want to go with younger people and see if I can't recapture some of the fun I missed. When I was young enough to go to bed at 8 I was sitting up all night, with older men, at drinking parties. I have given parties for the younger set and tried every way I can to make connection with them. They don't snub me but they don't take me in. I am so much older in my ideas that they feel restrained around me. When I go off for a vacation it is the same way. For a while the younger set take me on and then they drop me and the older set take me on. I am beginning to feel like an outcast. My family is well to do. They give me nice clothes. They have a nice home but all it gets me is a bunch of older men. I have to give up dances and go into my shell but I am sick of the whole business. Tell me what to do.

ANSWER:

The scientists tell us that a man is as old as his arteries. He may be registered as thirty-five in his family Bible and be registered at seventy in the case history which the doctor files under his name. He may boast of youth and health and wealth and yet be a bankrupt on all these scores. For he has no youth if his arteries are old. He has no health beyond what his heart will guarantee, and his wealth is useless to him when he is dead.

He is prototype of you. Sixteen and yet experienced in the wild life that makes you old before your time; forced to associate with people much older than yourself; a member of a well-to-do family, having a nice home and pretty clothes, yet all it gets you is "a bunch" of something you don't want.

Dear child, a man is as old as his arteries. A woman is as old as her experience. No matter what that man of thirty-five with seventy-year-old arteries may do to recapture his youth, he cannot do it. He cannot make unelastic arteries elastic. He cannot change them one iota. He can possibly slow down the hardening process by careful living, but he can never be young again.

A young girl of sixteen who has indulged in wild pleasures and associated with older men who are experienced in the wild life of the world cannot recapture lost innocence. She cannot capture the fun she missed. She can stop short in her tracks and refuse to absorb any more foul experience. She can stop short of ruin by cutting out the drinking parties and the all-night carousals. She can call a halt to the social activities that sell her spiritually but she can never make herself an acceptable companion to the young people who have not lived too fast, and who at sixteen are still innocent, fun-loving, pleasure seeking, normal youths.

There are pleasures and privileges for every age. Why borrow from the future? There are restrictions for well-bred people of every age. Why disregard them? Life is a hundred per cent sweeter when it's clean. Youth is a hundred per cent more joyous when it's uncorrupted and ignorant of forbidden fruit.

Culbertson on Contract

Rebidding Minimums

Each bid in Contract is, or should be, a step forward. Each rebid, whether it is a rebid of the suit you have once named, the showing of another suit, or assisting your partner, should disclose additional strength. To bid and rebid the same honor and playing tricks is to invite disaster. I have stated these facts in this form and in many other times and again. Of course, every expert Contract player and every good Contract player knows these things, but even experts either obsessed with their own cleverness or hoping that the factors of distribution may be such as to counterbalance their own rashness, sometimes in practice depart from the sound and tried ways in an effort to learn whether or not fire will really burn.

In a recent tournament, the only players in which were masters who had won championships, a very vivid illustration of the dangers of rebidding minimums, even although you are an expert, was brought to my attention. The price they paid was staggering and all the greater because their opponents would probably have been unable to find a way to a safe game. At one table where this hand was played, that expert pair, Theodore A. Lightner and Michael Gottlieb, were seated East and West. Their opponents were well known and expert players from New York, one a member of the winning Vanderbilt cup team in 1929.

Both sides vulnerable. South, Dealer.

The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraph.)

South	West	North	East
10 (1)	Pass	17 (2)	2 (3)
2 (4)	Dbl. (5)	Pass	Pass

1—South's Opening bid is entirely correct. The additional length in the diamond suit justifies opening on 2-1-2 honor-tricks, even although his side is vulnerable.

2—North with 1-1-2 honor-tricks is justified in his Takeout, as the bidding is still at the range of one. It is possible that South may hold hearts which will complement North's holding.

3—The danger signal. It was now up to North and South to stop, look and listen before venturing further in an effort to play the hand on the attack. A defensive role is suggested by East's aggressive Overcall.

4—South refused to heed the warning. He insisted on giving his partner a complete picture of his hand, but the picture was not drawn by a master and was the veriest caricature as later developments demonstrated.

5—The Double was like the crack of a whip over the back of a slave. North and South had no escape, although diamonds would have been slightly less disastrous, but North had no means of knowing this.

The result was a 5-trick set or a penalty of 1,800 points. The best that East and West can hope for if they play the hand is to make game in notrump, but East's strong spade holding, coupled with the possession of the honor card in spades, probably precludes all possibility of that result. If played at spades for a game, the hand must be defeated, as College Set Dances.

Jack Adair, Bill Booth and Bosco DuPre announce that there will be no dance at Garber Hall Friday, September 25, due to the house dances being given by fraternities at Georgia Tech. The fall series of football games will begin Friday evening, October 2, and there will be no Saturday evening dances for the college contingent this week. These dances will be run along the same lines as the summer dances, from 9 to 1 o'clock, and exclusively for the college set. Invitations have been issued to a number of popular Atlanta belles. Atlanta matrons who will act as chaperones are Mesdames George Yundt, Hal Steed, J. L. Riley, Carroll Latimer, Frank Orme, B. M. Grant, Ed Van Winkle, Nora Northen, Philip Austin and Bernard Wolfe.

East cannot so play his cards as to avoid the loss of at least 4 tricks.

TODAY'S POINTER.

In making a Defensive Overcall, a player must not, as a rule, anticipate more than 2 supporting tricks in his partner's hand, if the partnership is vulnerable. The loss resulting from invidious Overcalls, even at the range of two, may easily overbalance any possible score made by your adversaries, if they are permitted to secure the declaration uncontested. If you are not sure of your partner's rule, assume that your partner will furnish you with 3 playing-tricks. The greater degree of caution urged when vulnerable is a "safety measure."

KLEENEX
DISPOSABLE TISSUES

SCHOOL days are here—start now to guard against colds and other epidemics.

One protection you can give your child is Kleenex disposable tissues instead of handkerchiefs.

Kleenex tissues are soft, dainty squares to use once and destroy. Compare the cleanly Kleenex way with the old-time handkerchief, which tests show may contain literally millions of germs!

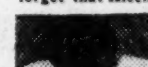

Children particularly need Kleenex, because they are so careless, and because they contract nose and throat infections so readily. Supply your child today with Kleenex... teach him to use it once and then destroy.

Children prefer Kleenex. Children prefer Kleenex, once they try it. Made of cellulose, it's softer than any handkerchief. And nearly twice as absorbent—thus preventing irritation. And with Kleenex there's never any trouble over lost or stained handkerchiefs. It costs even less than laundering alone.

Many uses

There's nothing like Kleenex for saving your time and temper a dozen times a day. For wiping spectacles; for applying medicine; for minor handkerchiefs for wiping razor blades... these are but a few of the many uses for Kleenex. And don't forget that Kleenex is declared the safest, most efficient way of removing face creams by those experienced in skin care. Its superior absorbency is needed to remove all impurities from the pores. All drug, dry goods and department stores sell Kleenex.

DISEASE GERMS
that thrive in handkerchiefs used during colds include the Pneumococcus, Streptococcus (pus germ), Catarrhus, bacteriological tests show.

INSTALLMENT XXII.

She couldn't explain her changing moods. Thad's death was probably accountable for it, but grief wasn't usually so capricious in its effect. Before dinner one of these inexplicable changes of mood had taken place in Lisa's room. Fabia had entered friendly, left hostile, and now had just said good-night with warmth, and almost effusion. "Thank you for telling me so much tonight," she had said. "It's so much nicer understanding. I've loved our talk, mother, dear."

Oh, well, Lisa sighed, she mustn't question Fabia's moods. She must remember that she, too, at Fabia's age had feelings that fluctuated easily. Even today—she sighed again—she was not as steady as she wished. She had simply learned how to conceal the fluctuations—or to conceal them better. Her technique was still far from perfect. In fact, it endured the tests put to it less successfully than a few years ago.

Why was it happiness was more difficult to conceal than unhappiness? And why did joy—strange, newly discovered joy—and strange, newly discovered beauty make it harder to accept with composure the details in one's life that lacked joy and beauty? That was not as it should be. The possession of a new joy, and a new beauty, ought to cast a rose light upon all the gray and drab details of one's life. Somehow she must make her possession cast such a light. Or she must give it up. Strange—strange, indeed, to find herself at her age, in her position—so well guarded, in her possession of a new joy and beauty. Ought she to possess it? If it harmed no one else, was it wrong to possess it? If it enriched someone else, was it not, indeed, right to possess it?

"Come in," she called. "Oh, I thought it was Fabia," she explained. For Rupert stood in the doorway wrapped in his monk-like purple robe. "No," he said hesitatingly. "It is I, Peter arrived the following Tuesday. He came in a crate. He looked as if he might be an offspring of Thad's—brown, rough and ragged. On the outside of the crate a letter was nailed containing the information that the Killarney Kennels had received an order by telephone to send the best male puppy in the kennels to Miss Fabia Vale by express. Enclosed was the puppy's registered pedigree. She would find that the sire of the puppy selected, named Peter Royal, was the well-known Royal King, many times blue-ribbon winner, and by the best judges in the country considered, etc., etc., etc."

"Who sent him to you?" demanded Jane excitedly. "I don't know."

"Do you suppose it could be Morris Haverford? Or perhaps it's only Mr. Pith. He's always doing things like that."

Fabia had said she didn't want another dog to take Thad's place, but when she learned about the crate and peered in at the woe-begone scrap of life inside, gazing up at her with large, pleading eyes that were running, a spasm of trembling took possession of his small body, and Fabia felt a tightening in her throat.

When Joe opened the box and placed him on the floor, his legs sprawled helpless and he lay cowering, seized by another spasm of trembling. Fabia picked him up, and clasped him to her close.

"Joe," said Fabia in a taut voice, "where's Thad's basket?" "Out in the garage, Miss."

"Bring it up to my room. And some warm milk, please."

"Don't forget you have a tea this afternoon," said Lisa, who had been looking on.

"I won't forget, mother," said Fabia.

This it was that Peter became installed in Fabia's bathroom, near the radiator, where she could nurse him herself, and persuade him to lap milk, soft-boiled egg, or beef-tea from her finger-tips. He soon became too weak to stand up and eat properly. Fabia had nursed Thad through distemper. She knew what to do. Of course, a veterinarian had been called.

Lisa had reported to the manager of the kennels the condition in which Peter had arrived. The manager wrote in reply that the puppy had showed no symptoms of sickness when he had been shipped, but said he would exchange him. Fabia wouldn't listen to it.

Day and night Fabia nursed Peter.

BARON SLUGGERS EVEN BUFF SERIES, 14 TO 10

Ralph McGill's Football Review

Editor's Note: This is the tenth of a series of articles by Ralph McGill, sports editor of The Constitution, dealing with the prospects of Southern conference football teams for the coming season. He is now on a tour of conference football camps, and his daily stories will give Constitution readers first-hand "dope" on the various teams.

With Much To Learn, Duke Hard at Work And Will Be Formidable November Team.

DURHAM, N. C., Sept. 23.—Duke's campus is blazing with the September heat and football enthusiasm as the first game of the year with South Carolina draws near.

The Duke Blue Devils are not ready by any means if one listens to Wallace Wade, one-time maker of champions at Alabama, who is plying his trade for the first time at Duke.

Wade has a coaching staff of assistants from various spots. Hersell Caldwell, Alabama end of some years ago, handles the freshmen; Dumpy Hagler, star tackle of one of Wade's teams, helps with the line; Freddie Sington, last season's All-American tackle at Alabama, also aids with the line; Carl Voyles, of the Oklahoma Aggies, is backfield coach, and Eddie Cameron, of Washington & Lee, handles the ends.

Wallace Wade is as blue as the devil about his Blue Devils. It seems that the boys are not blocking with anything like consistency, neither are they tackling hard enough to suit the tactician and exacting coach, who has produced the best blocking teams the south has ever seen. And not only that, but the boys aren't running hard enough with that football.

"I am having a difficult time teaching them that no one will arrest them if they really block a man," said Wade, "and that no one will think ill of them if they haul off and tackle with all they have."

"These boys can get running back gets loose in an open field we can't stop him. The boys have been used to having the backfield man fall down when a tackle got in his way, and they have been reciprocating. We are getting rid of those ideas slowly, but it is taking time. We are all worried to death about the South Carolina game. They are doped to have better backs than we have," concluded the Duke of the Duke footballers.

Wade will hardly win all his games this year. He is having to undo about all his predecessor did, so that it will fit his system of play. Jimmy Dehart, who coached the Blue Devils for some years before the advent of Wade, believed that the side that made the most touchdowns would win the game. That being undisputed, Dehart strove mightily with his offense. His defense was his offense, and he rarely worked his squad at defensive tactics.

Our Leading Fundamentalist.

Wade has always built his teams around the fundamentals. He produced teams at Alabama that blocked with a fury and a skill that was almost unbelievable. When he started at Duke last spring, he found men who were not used to hard running, blocking and tackling. He is still having some trouble. The scrimmage Wednesday afternoon against some of the South Carolina players showed plenty of faults.

The Duke material of last season seems to have been a bit overrated. Eighteen lettermen returned, but truth compels one to announce that there are some Duke lettermen of 1930 who will not make the third team this season.

Wade admits to being in a strange country amidst strange customs. He asks one to believe that he is in for a very tough year, indeed.

There is every indication that Wade is making real progress. He will have a good football team, but until it has played a game or two, no one will be able to really estimate its strength. Wade is constantly changing his backs and some of his linemen. He takes solemn oath that he does not know what his first lineup will be, and he further swears that once it is selected it will hardly last more than a week.

But I have an idea that November will find the Duke team coming along fast. The boys are trying. They seem to want to work, and one who knows Wade knows they are jolly well getting it in truck loads.

Building From Ground Up.

"These boys didn't have any idea about what it takes to make a well-rounded football team," said Wade. "They thought that if an end, for instance, made two or three good tackles during a game he was a great end. They did not take into consideration all the other things an end must do. This held true for most of the other departments in play. We are all working hard, the boys and what I consider the best rounded coaching staff in the conference, to put it over, and we will in time. But this year things look blue."

Captain H. O. (Kid) Brewer, fullback, is the most improved player on the squad, according to Wade. Brewer was touted as one of the greater fullbacks last fall, and yet Wade found a boy who could run hard straight ahead and do little else. He has made a good fullback of him in three weeks, or rather has him started on the road to being one.

There is just one department in which Wade is completely satisfied. He has three of the best punters this section has seen. They can match toes with any kickers in the conference and finish well up or ahead. In practice before the Wednesday scrimmage, they were booting the football 60 yards and better.

It so happens that two of them are triple-threat men, passing being their job as well as kicking.

Nick Laney, 155-pound halfback; Chuck Rossiter, 180-pound halfback, and Pinkie James, 170-pound end, make up the kicking trio, with the first two being the boys with the triple-threat. Wade will have one of those boys in the lineup at all times. He dislikes the idea of calling back an end to punt, but it will be necessary sometimes.

Mullins To Do Blocking.

Jimmy (Moon) Mullins is the blocking fullback on the Wade eleven. The Wade system calls for one back to lead in most of the blocking.

Brewer, at fullback; Lowell Mason, 150-pound junior, at quarter, and either Rossiter, Abbott or Laney at the other half, will make up the starting backfield, unless, of course, Wade changes his mind.

Brewer is the lone senior. The others will be juniors or sophomores. Laney and Rossiter come under the latter classification.

Horace Hendrickson, Artie Ershler and Walter Belue are being worked in the No. 2 backfield. There is no great amount of weight in either set of backs, but they are heavy enough at that.

Don Hoyt, senior end, and Fred Crawford, made over from a freshman tackle into a sophomore end, are the present No. 1 ends. Crawford is No. 1 so long as no punter is needed outside the backfield. Pinkie James is No. 1 when a kicker is needed on the line. This, Wade hopes, won't be often.

Tackles of Equal Ability.

Bill Bryan, senior tackle, and Pap Harton, a sub in 1930, are running as the No. 1 tackles with Bert Friedman, a sub center last season, and Al Means, a sophomore, as the second set. One is about as good as the other.

Pop Werner, called Pop because his name is spelled almost like Pop Warner's, and Don Carpenter, both on the squad last season, are the guards. John Daighthery and Carl Shock, sophomores, are also good guards.

Emery Adkins, veteran center, returns as does Waite Hamrick. The line, from tackle to tackle, will average about 182 pounds, which is heavy enough.

Wade isn't sorrowing about the material so much. "It is better than some I have seen at Alabama," he said, "and, of course, it isn't as good as some I had there. But, on the whole, there is no objection to the material. It is coming along all right."

MACK MAY USE HOYT IN FIRST TILT OF SERIES

Famous "Castoff" Has Pitched Good Ball in Five Classics.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics having put away the American league pennant for the season, followers of the champions are speculating on the opening pitcher for the world series.

There are nine to pick from—Earnshaw, Grove, Hoyt, Krause, Donald, Mahaffey, Peterson, Rommel and Walberg. Many baseball experts think Connie Mack will start either Robert Moses Grove or George Livingstone Earnshaw, his two outstanding stars. Others have a hunch that he might cross the wise ones by starting a "cast-off" pitcher.

WAITE, THE WANDERER.

Waite Hoyt, let go by the New York Yankees and tossed to the Athletics by the Detroit Tigers, has many followers who profess to believe he will be nominated to hurl the opening game in St. Louis against the Cardinals.

None of Mack's staff has the world series experience of the former Yankee-Detroit flinger. He has had the thrill of five world series as a member of the Yankees. He has pitched in eight of the classic games and won six. His last two victories were against the A's coming opponents, the Cardinals, whom he defeated 4 to 1 and 7 to 3 in 1928.

He has won 10 victories for the Athletics since joining them on the Fourth of July.

MACK SILENT.

Connie Mack, as has been his custom, gives no indication as to who will start the series. He tells inquirers he does not know.

On the strength of the season's performance, Grove would have the call, but there is Earnshaw, who was so successful against the Cardinals last year, to be reckoned with. Walberg has not been seriously considered in the deductions of the fans, yet he has only one less victory for the season than Earnshaw.

Of the 105 games the A's have so far won this year, Grove, Earnshaw, Walberg and Hoyt are credited with 81 victories. Grove leads with 30. Earnshaw has won 21 and Walberg 20. Leroy Mahaffey has won 15. Eddie Rommel 7 and Hank McDonald 2.

Odds on Athletics Drop to 7 to 5.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(UP)—Betting odds favoring the Philadelphia Athletics to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals in the world series have dropped in one week from 8 to 5 to 7 to 5, the United Press learned today.

One New York commission house reported placing of a wager of $7,000 to $5,000 favoring the A's. At the same time a wager of $1,200 to $1,000 that the Athletics would win the opening game was made.

Tifton Rams Meet Benning Saturday

TIFTON, Ga., Sept. 13.—(AP)—With full team of veterans returning from last year's unbeaten eleven, football prospects are exceptionally bright at Georgia State College for Men here.

Coach Mitchell is driving his squad hard for their opening contest here September 26 against Fort Benning.

Regulars returning are Singleton and Divine, ends; Cartwright and England, tackles; McCallister, guard; Shaw, center; Brooks, quarter; Nix and Cliett, halfbacks, and Buntin, full.

Injured

JACK SHARKEY.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Jack Sharkey today sought a postponement of his scheduled bout October 1 with Primo Carnera, complaining he had injured a finger of his left hand in training.

Dr. William Walker, physician of the New York state athletic commission, was called in by James J. Johnston, promoter, and after an examination and taking of X-ray pictures, said it was his opinion Sharkey could fight on October 1. He said there was no indication of a break, and a few days' rest should leave the hand in shape.

Sharkey insisted on a postponement, however, and announced his intention of going before the commission tomorrow to seek favorable action.

Johnston said if a postponement was granted Sharkey, the fight would be put on October 12.

CADETS TO OPEN SEASON TONIGHT

College Park Boys Face Notre Dame Preps at Spiller's.

By Roy White.

Georgia Military Academy will open its 1931 football schedule at 7:30 o'clock tonight at Spiller field with the strong Notre Dame Preps, of Chattanooga, Tenn., as opponents.

It will be the first of a series of three night games to be played this week at Spiller's, with Boys' High and Madison following Friday and Tech High and Spartanburg meeting Saturday night.

With five weeks of practice behind them, the G. M. A. candidates are in good condition and ready for tonight's opener. The last of the hard scrimmages was held Tuesday afternoon, and the finishing touches were laid on with long signal drill Wednesday afternoon.

Two of the five weeks of preliminary training were spent in the mountains of North Carolina at the G. M. A. summer camp. Only light conditioning was on the mountain program, but considerable instruction in fundamentals was imparted.

Coaches M. C. Padgett, G. M. McQuarrie and Sam Brown have worked hard on individual players since the team returned to College Park three weeks ago, but the last workout was none too promising.

The line has not developed as the coaches had hoped, and, with several new players in the backfield, there is much work to be done before the team looks formidable enough to be in to open the season tonight.

G. M. A. had two distinct teams running signals Wednesday, but it is likely that a combination eleven from the two will be selected. Several youngsters who weigh 150 pounds and over are crowding their way into the foreground, and will be given an opportunity tonight.

A speedy backfield is almost certain to start against the Chattanooga team with Captain Pendleton leading the way.

The coaches had not definitely decided on the lineup last night.

MEAN FEAT.

Staggering Rosenbloom is no mean feat in view of the fact that the champ is rated as one of the best boxers in the ring and that he has stood the test against such men as W. L. Stripling, Tiger Flowers, Jack Delaney, Harry Greb, Dave Shade and Jimmy Slattery, none of whom were able to knock him out.

While Rosenbloom is looked upon as a grizzled old-timer, he is but 27 years old, having been born in New York city September 6, 1904. He has a pretty wide nodule for ringmanship and has fought a great number of fights. He is rated one of the game's smartest campaigners.

Jack Dempsey, who is doing a comeback, declined to box Rosenbloom. Dempsey, however, says, despite the fact that Jack had a vastly superior weight advantage.

Bozo, on the other hand, has a natural knack for competing with such styles as that of Rosenbloom. And, strange as it seems, he always looks his best against good men. He gave Natie Brown, the best of Max Schmeling's sparring mates, a fancy shellacking in Cleveland.

BACHMAN'S ADVICE.

Bachman thinks Pa Stripling should take the boy to New York and get him in his time. He believes the Bozo would prove sensation up there. There's really nothing like him for singularity of type since Battling Siki was killed, declares Bachman.

Pa Stripling, who is always good for a modern joke or two when he is feeling good, was in high spirits yesterday. He will push Bozo's claim to recognition from the N. B. A. and will file another challenge through that body. Pa will get in touch with John B. Clinlin, the N. B. A. head, today and tell him just how flabbergasted Bozo had his pet champion in the seventh and eighth rounds Tuesday night.

"There is little doubt about Bozo being the leading contender in this section," Pa stated. And the funniest part of it all was that Rosenbloom's manager agreed with him.

Consequently, if Bozo, who is still a growing boy, doesn't grow into a full-fledged heavyweight too quickly, the light-heavy diadem may yet repose on that funny-looking noggin of his.

Stripling To Meet Babe Hunt Here

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 23.—(AP)—W. L. ("Young") Stripling announced here tonight that he would return to the boxing ring on October 20, when he will appear in Atlanta against Babe Hunt, Ponca City, Okla., fighter. It will be Stripling's first fight since he was defeated by Max Schmeling in Cleveland.

Stripling came here today by airplane from Atlanta.

By Jimmy Jones.

Frank E. Bachman, who looks after the fistie affairs of Maxie Rosenbloom, saw fit to make a few very complimentary remarks about Battling Bozo after the long-legged larper of the Alabama coal region had peppered the champion's homely map with numerous gloves Tuesday night at the Atlanta auditorium.

Mr. Bachman, who was finding this Georgia weather of ours rather uncomfortable, directed the usual after-the-battle conversation from an easy chair in Maxie's hotel and he spoke of the Bozo most kindly between vigorous moppings of his brow.

"A very tough boy to fight, and he worried Maxie worse this time than he has ever done before," Bachman declared.

JOEY WHITE.

Jay (Jazbo) Thomas, public and private relations counsel of the Striplings, who saw the Bozo in his first two meetings with the champion, also praised Rosenbloom's willingness to mix it, and commended the champion for ignoring the two accidental low blows that Bozo landed.

The possibility of another fight here between the two, this time over a 12 or 15-round bout, is brewing. Bachman expressed himself as heartily favoring another meeting, and added that the fact that his man and Bozo had fought three 10-round draws indicated that a longer fight was needed to decide the supremacy of one or the other.

THREE-WAY TALK.

Abelson conversed with Pa Stripling and Bachman, the rival managers, in Jacksonville, Fla., and found that both were willing to stage another match. Abelson said that he would feel out public sentiment here in Atlanta, and try to ascertain if the fans would like to see the two battle again.

"If everything is favorable, I would like to bring the champion and the leading challenger to Atlanta some time in the near future. I believe it would draw a record gate," the matchmaker concluded.

Ex-Tech High Player Gets Trial at Detroit

Joyner White, Another Atlanta Boy, To Join Nolen Richardson on Tigers' Roster.

By Jimmy Jones.

The Detroit Tigers, who have always had a sort of liking for Georgia talent since Ty Cobb went, came along to give the red clay boys a highly respectable position in baseball, are going to have a couple of Atlanta boys on their club next year.

Nolen Richardson, who played third for Bucky Harris' club this year, will be joined by a fellow citizen in the person of young Joyner White, who has been purchased by the Tigers after a sensational year with the Beaumont Exporters, of the Texas league.

Young White, who has been in professional ball only three seasons and is 24 years old, faced the celebrated Texas league pitcher without one bit of trepidation, and cracked the ball consistently to compile a 299 average.

He also led the league in triples with 23, and ran wild on the sacks to steal 52 bases. In fact, White, along with Dixie Dean, was one of the Texas league notables. And it's difficult to be a notable with Dixie around.

Young White's speed on the bases and his ability to confuse the station ahead of him without the aid of a base hit, apparently attracted the eye of the Tiger scouts. They usually keep a sharp lookout for base stealers, as the one-time "lost art" seems to be coming back. Benny Chapman, of the Yanks, helped revive this year.

Joyner White is one of Gabe Tolbert's proteges at Tech High. He played on the baseball and basketball teams there.

Upon leaving school, he entered the Georgia-Alabama league. Since then he has played in the Mississippi Valley and in the Three-I. His first year in the Texas he went like a house afire.

Gabe Tolbert, his old high school coach, says this of him: "He was one of the best baseball players we ever had at Tech High, and also did some good work at forward on the basketball team. I always thought he'd make a go of it in pro baseball."

White is a left-handed hitter and

ASA CANDLER ORDERED TO PAY SHRINE FUND

$10,000 Judgment Won by Trustees; $250,000 Suits Are Planned.

Suits totaling $250,000 will be filed within the next few weeks against subscribers to the fund for the building of the Shrine Mosque who have refused to pay the amounts due from them, Carlton W. Binns, trustee, announced Wednesday night following return of a verdict in city court of Decatur against Asa G. Candler Jr. for $10,000.

Mr. Binns said that the Candler case verdict was the second won from subscribers in test cases, and that the way is now clear for the filing of a large number of suits which are in the course of preparation.

When the mosque building campaign was on, a total of $1,000,000 was raised in subscriptions, and some $300,000 of this amount has never been paid. Mr. Candler, one of the largest individual subscribers, contended that plans for the mosque were changed so that a building costing $2,750,000 was erected and that this variance in the contract relieved him from liability. He also claimed in his defense that the contract specified that the building would be erected on property "now owned" and that the shrine bought additional property on Peachtree and a narrow strip at Kimball street (now Ponce de Leon) and Cypress street.

In another test case, Mr. Binns as trustee recently won a $1,000 judgment against John O. DuFree in municipal court of Atlanta, he said. Mr. Binns was appointed trustee by agreement to protect the supply men who furnished material for the building.

A number of suits against persons living in other cities who signed subscriptions to the building fund have been filed by attorneys, Mr. Binns said.

Cooking School Crowd Packs Davison-Paxon Restaurant Again on Second Day

Second day's crowd at The Constitution-Kelvinator cooking and refrigeration school, being held this week in the big sixth floor restaurant of Davison-Paxon Company. Hundreds were unable to get seats again as at the opening session. The school will continue today and Friday, opening at 8:45 a. m. Miss Marian Sawyer, chief of the home economics department and laboratories of the Kelvinator Corporation, is conducting the school.

Prior to the cooking and refrigeration demonstrations, a 15-minute style show is staged under the direction of Martin Amorous Jr. The doors of the store open at 8:30 to admit those attending the sessions of the school and each morning huge crowds are waiting on the sidewalk for the doors to open, making it necessary to get there early in order to obtain the more desirable seats.

Crowds attending the school are said to be the greatest in the history of the store for any similar event, it being a great problem to handle them. Hundreds were forced to stand, while many sat in the windows. Seats were arranged to accommodate 4,000. It is expected that a considerable increase will be shown in the attendance today, and judging from the former schools in which The Constitution has been interested the climax will come on the final day when a number of the feature events of the session are scheduled on the program.

Ordinary Englishman Unaffected By Gold Standard Suspension

LONDON, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The ordinary Englishman at present is entirely unaffected by the suspension of the gold standard.

If he makes 5 pounds sterling weekly, or 10 or 50, he continues to receive this. Unless he takes a trip to the Riviera, or a flyer to see the bright lights of Broadway, his pounds, shillings and pence will buy as much in this country as before.

It is generally expected that retail prices will rise. How soon and how much nobody knows. Few economists and others who are supposed to know agree.

No authority can say what the percentage of increase will be when the present stocks of food, clothing and other supplies are exhausted and more must be bought abroad.

Uninnumerable problems are involved. Increased British exports may compensate for the decreased purchasing power of sterling abroad, some commentators say. The low level of the world's commodity markets also enters into the question. Likewise, there is the tariff, which is gaining support in many sections of the British public.

Whatever the increase in retail prices, the government has pledged drastic control and it is possible that dictatorial regulations will be invoked to prevent profiteering.

The ordinary Englishman now has nothing to worry about over gold suspension so long as he stays in his homeland. On direct purchases from abroad—say, champagnes from France or automobiles from America—he will have to pay approximately an additional 16 per cent outright, owing to the lower value of sterling in relation to francs and dollars. But the ordinary Englishman doesn't buy either of these products heavily.

What he is worrying about is the national economic campaign which

DR. A. C. CRUSSELLE DIES AT HOME HERE

Dr. A. C. Cruselle, 55, of 158 Atlanta avenue, S. E., who was connected with the engineering department of the Georgia Power Company, died of heart failure late Wednesday afternoon at the residence. He was for many years a physician in the United States navy, retiring to become a contractor. He was born in Atlanta, lived here most of his life and was a Mason and a Shriner.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 o'clock Friday morning at the Capital Avenue Baptist church, of which he was a member. The Rev. W. A. Major will officiate, and interment will be in West View. He is survived by his wife; two sons, A. C. Cruselle Jr., and William V. Cruselle; four daughters, Mrs. H. A. Allen, Mrs. W. R. Saye, Mrs. G. V. Austin, and Mrs. J. F. McLoughlin, of Asheville, N. C.; and his mother, Mrs. Katie Cruselle.

was in full swing before the gold standard was suspended. It resulted in many salary cuts, and the supplementary budget carried with it additional heavy taxation on everything from incomes to beer.

Roosevelt Is Seen as Favorite Among Democratic Aspirants

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(UP)—Authoritative democratic opinion places the standings of the party's leading presidential possibilities today as follows:

Newton D. Baker, of Ohio, wartime secretary of war.

Governor Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland.

Alfred E. Smith, democratic candidate against Herbert Hoover in 1928.

W. A. Major will officiate, and interment will be in West View. He is survived by his wife; two sons, A. C. Cruselle Jr., and William V. Cruselle; four daughters, Mrs. H. A. Allen, Mrs. W. R. Saye, Mrs. G. V. Austin, and Mrs. J. F. McLoughlin, of Asheville, N. C.; and his mother, Mrs. Katie Cruselle.

But interest in his candidacy is growing and there is a strong feeling that it will continue to grow. Whether it will increase, despite his own inactivity to proportions that will threaten Roosevelt at the convention opening is regarded as one of the important questions of the presidential campaign.

Roosevelt got off to a flying start. It is said that undoubtedly he is far ahead of the field at present. So far ahead, some experts hold, that he made himself a clear and not actually vulnerable target for the rest to concentrate against in the pre-convention campaign.

It is interesting in view of the light wine and beer platform suggested this week by J. Louis Shouse, chairman of the democratic national executive committee, that Roosevelt, Baker and Ritchie all are listed as wets.

Roosevelt has avoided a strong anti-prohibition stand. Baker is firmly for moderation of the present laws. Ritchie is wettest.

Smith is looked to as a campaign power. It is problematical when he will support, but it is held he will aim, probably accurately, at helping or hindering aspiring candidates.

It is in this connection that he may help Baker, if he finds himself in disagreement with the views of another. Of brilliant intellect, easy and democratic in bearing, humorous, a constructive thinker and a good organizer, many democrats feel that Baker will reach the convention at Roosevelt's heels, and going even stronger.

Ritchie is placed a clear third in the list by democrats. He is disliked by the dregs for his wetness; by many liberal democrats for his conservative views, approaching the republican, on power.

Owen D. Young, strange combination of a democrat and a seven-billion-dollar industrial chief, is held by many experts to be out of the picture.
